SLD Parent's questionnaire comments

What do you particularly like about the provision your child receives?	School's response:
I can see the progress my child has made since he started in June.	That is great news!
My son is doing amazing at the school. He is making so much progress and he surprises me every single day. He is super happy there. I can't explain in words how well he is doing. I would recommend the school to everyone.	Wow! What an amazing comment - thank you for this and we are so pleased that things are going well.
A real sense of family / community is well established and reassuring for children. He is not given a 1:1 but instead helped to be autonomous with his growing communication skills, with support from well trained and sensitive adults and peer buddies.	Thank you - yes we agree that as much independence as possible is something that is so important to strive for.
My son has made amazing progress. He has come on amazing since being at the school. I've got nothing but praise for the school.	Thank you for this comment
My son does sign language and he uses it at home which I feel helps him to communicate.	It is useful to know that this skill is used outside of school.
Caring and helpful, safe and secure environment, mixing with mainstream children.	Thank you for this comment.
The Speech and Language starts with the child. Well experienced, kind and understanding staff. Buddy system.	Thank you -yes! Starting with the child - so important!
From September when my son started school he has made brilliant progress and this is down to the excellent service from the school and Speech and Language Department.	Thank you for this comment.

What could help to make this provision improve?	School's response:
I am happy with the provision they have for my child.	Thank you for this comment.
Nothing. It is perfect as it is. Can't fault it at all.	Thank you for this comment.
Regular updates on SALT (from Speech Therapists) and what can be carried on at home to support this. More explanation regards the report that comes home - I find it confusing and unclear.	Thank you - this is very useful feedback. We will look at how this can be improved and will discuss at the steering group with our parent representatives.
Nothing so far, am happy with what I see and hear!	Thank you for this comment.
